CAPRI is a non-commercial gallery located in Berlin Mitte. Since its foundation in 2001, the artists organising the project have presented 58 exhibitions of contemporary art. CAPRI is also an active member in an international net of art workers which has resulted in cooperations including partners in France, the Netherlands, Russia and New Zealand.

In CAPRI the artists have to cope with a space that insists on its presence instead of confining itself to a background existence. Thus each show in CAPRI has to be a uniquely site specific production. Moreover, the peculiar features of the space implicate the visitor as 'participant-observer' within its scenography. Being thus a highly communicative place, CAPRI presents work involving a broad scale of media. The gallery focusses on artists concerned with the policies and aesthetics of space.

CAPRI would like to thank the Marli-Hoppe-Ritter-Stiftung for kindly supporting our presentation at PREVIEW 2005.
