A former hangar at Berlin's Tempelhof Airport will again be transformed into the buzzing exhibition site of Berlin's most successful emerging art fair. Preview Berlin draws attention to new developments in Berlin's art scene as well as to other hotbeds of artistic production and creates new networks for emerging galleries, artists, art specialists, collectors and art lovers. 57 galleries from 13 countries showcase the new artistic positions of tomorrow.

For the new Blue Room Series, Søren Lose (DK, 1972) examines the history of Tempelhof Airport. For Performance Art Day on October 30, selected international performance artists enrich Preview Berlin's program with an additional discussion related to performance and other ephemeral art forms at 6pm. The Video Art Program presents a wide array of new video works, selected by curator Sabine Schütze.

On Thursday, October 30, Preview Berlin and WOUND Magazine present "Talent Scout" party, starting at 11pm in the "Roter Salon" at Volksbühne. Special guests include Feral (Caron Geary—pictured here wearing the Preview Berlin T-shirt, designed exclusively by French shooting star Romain Kremer), Angie Reed and Cobra Killer. On Friday, October 31, Preview Berlin celebrates Club Night at Spindler & Klatt, starting at 11pm. On Saturday, November 1 at 8 pm in Hangar2, bulthaup hosts the Preview Berlin Young Collector's Dinner for invited guests.

A free Toyota Prius Hybrid Shuttle will provide a link every 15-minutes between Preview Berlin and the Candice Breitz exhibition at "Temporäre Kunsthalle" on October 29, and between Preview Berlin and Art Forum from October 30 to November 2. Art:berlin will offer public guided tours daily at 3 and 5pm. On Sunday, November 2, from 2 - 5pm, Preview Berlin, in conjunction with Jugend im Museum, will offer a special art program for children.
